SURVEYORS STILL ON THE JOB

There was another shift in the personnel of the government surveyors on the proposed air field when six men arrived Wednesday to make a survey of and plat the property lines involved. Previous surveys, it appears, have had to do first with the topography of the lands involved; that is, the elevation, contour, drainage, etc., of the same; and second, with the type and character of the soil.

The fact that these surveys are being followed up would indicate that the first preliminaries are satisfactory, and assurance of the air school's location here seems to grow more definite with each further advance.

Another encouragement to that anticipation is the fact that several officers of the air corps have taken options on residence property in Hondo in anticipation of being transferred to this place.

FIRST AID CLASSES TO START SOON

The State Highway Department has promised to send Medina County two instructors within the near future and want us to be ready when they come. Any adult is eligible to take the course which consists of a twenty-hour period one night a week, three hours a night in order to receive a First Aid certificate one must attend all classes. At the end of the course an examination will be given on both practice and written work. A class consists of thirty-five members. One of the instructors will teach in Hondo and the other in D'Hanis. This is at no expense to the local Red Cross.

Every one who is interested in taking this course please mail Mrs. Alfred Bader a postal card with name, address and phone number, in order that you may be notified when the classes start. If you cannot be taken in the first class there will be other classes in the near future and we will notify you.

MRS. ALFRED BADER,
First Aid Chairman.

TELL WHAT TO DO IN EMERGENCY

An interested assemblage at the courthouse Monday and Tuesday nights listened to Highway Patrolmen Mans and Mahler explain in simple and clear language what to do in the event of an air raid. They discussed different kinds of bombs, the purpose of the enemy in using them and how best to meet the conditions resultant from either emergency.

They also explained the purpose of blackouts and how to secure complete darkness and what to do in the matter of traffic during such times.

To the average person the possibility of ever needing such precautions seems to be rather remote, but do not forget it can happen here, and one never loses anything by being forearmed.

Messrs. Mans and Mahler are stationed at Uvalde, headquarters of the Highway Patrol for this area.

DEFENSE BOND PLEDGE DRIVE TO START SATURDAY

A concerted drive all over Medina County will start Saturday to secure pledges for purchase of Defense Bonds and Stamps. The United States Government, through Frank Scofield, state administrator, is asking every person in Medina County to sign a pledge to buy periodically whatever amounts of bonds or stamps they can. The pledges and the amounts are strictly voluntary, but the Government feels confident it can depend upon the citizenry to cooperate. Each person who has an income is expected to sign a pledge, even though the amount of the bonds or stamps to be purchased is small. Persons who are already on a salary allotment plan, or are on some other form of periodically-spaced buying schedule, are expected to sign. This does not mean that they will be expected to make additional purchases, but does mean that they should sign up for the amount they are already

A WEEK of the WAR

President Roosevelt proclaimed April 6 as Army Day and asked the Nation to observe it by resolving firmly "to spare no effort which may contribute to the speedy creation of the arms and supplies indispensable to our citizen's army." He said "We are engaged in our greatest war, a war that will leave none of our lives wholly untouched. We shall win this war as we have won every war we have fought."

War Secretary Stimson announced the Army will train 100,000 men and women for civilian jobs as overhaul and repair mechanics, inspectors at Government arsenals, etc. Men must be outside the age requirements for Selective Service. Applications may be made at any Civil Service Commission local office. The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to create a Volunteer Army Auxiliary Corps of Women between 21 and 45.

Ground Forces Commander McNair reported the Army will expand its present nine corps areas to 11 to facilitate handling of 32 new streamlined infantry divisions of 15,300

Make your pledge for regular investment in War Savings Bonds and Stamps. Everyone is expected to sign a pledge.

On Saturday, March 28th you may sign your pledge at office in Raye Theatre Building where representatives of the Drive Committee will be ready to furnish you with pledge blanks and assist with any information or explanations requested.

men each. Commander McNair said a site "west of the Colorado River" has been selected for large-scale troop training in modern desert warfare. The Army Institute was established at Madison, Wis., to provide correspondence study in more than 65 academic courses for enlisted men with at least four months active service.

Selective Service
Selective Service Director Her- they, tightening II-A deferments, directed SS local boards to put aside considerations of "mere convenience and comfort" in determining the deferment of persons necessary to the "national health, safety or interest." The local boards began distribution of four-page occupational questionnaires to obtain for the U. S. Employment Service and other agencies full information on the vocational background of men who registered February 16. Later the questionnaires will be sent to earlier SS registrants.

The President set April 27 as the SS registration day for all men 44 to 64, inclusive. Director Hershey said as the war progresses, draft deferments will depend more on whether a man's civil operation is essential to the war effort than on his dependents.

Rationing
The Office of Price Administration announced individual or family consumers will register for sugar rationing May 4, 5, 6 and 7 at public elementary schools. Commercial (Continued on last page)

OWLS LOSE TO RANDOLPH HERE

Paced by little Chick Hardin, who slashed out a home run, a double and two singles, the Randolph Field Ramblers won their fourth consecutive baseball game Tuesday, defeating the Hondo Owls here, 11 to 5.

Adam Colosky, who needed only three pitches to retire the Owls in one inning and four in two other innings, had trouble only with Clinton Hartung, Hondo pitcher who got three hits to drive in four runs.

SINGING WITH CHORUS

Austin, Texas, March 24. — A round-up set to music—that's the plan for the thirteenth annual Round Up at the University of Texas this week-end, as the annual homecoming celebration is high-lighted by one of the most pretentious musical programs ever attempted on the campus.

Directed by Dr. Archie N. Jones, professor of music education, a massed chorus of more than 150 voices, accompanied by the University Symphony Orchestra, will sing the "Rio Grande," marking this suite's first presentation by a college group. The "Rio Grande," a suite for chorus, orchestra, and piano solo, has been played by a half-dozen symphonies over the country, but never before by college organizations.

Taking part in the program will be the University Chorus, Choir, Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, and the orchestra. The piano solo will be played by Paul Moor, fine arts student from El Paso.

The choruses and orchestra are to present a 45-minute concert, including the "Rio Grande," Friday night at the Round Up Revue and Ball, where the University Sweetheart, whose identity is still a secret, will be presented with her "court" of 374 Bluebonnet Belle nominees.

Sunday afternoon, in place of the customary concert presented by fine arts faculty members, the student choruses and orchestra will appear again in a "home coming" concert. They will repeat the "Rio Grande," as well as give a varied concert of choral and orchestra arrangements.

Singing with the chorus during the two concerts will be Betty Merriman, fine arts major from Hondo.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Fightin' a war is no job for the moving pictures, but I see they are trying to get actors exempt. There are plenty of things this country could get along without, but not many that could be dispensed with less annoyance than some movies we see here and there. I am thinking about the shootin' and cuttin' kind, and the slinky ones. I am not thinking about Mr. Laurel or Mr. Hardy or Mr. Disney.

When this war gets over and the boys get home and it comes to another election time, we are gonna see some voting. Those boys are not going to be any more lady-like with their voting than they were with the Japs.

I was talking to my Susie about it, and she says, "Who will be running for Pres. and V. P. then?" So I extended my chest and I says, "if I was pickin' a couple tickets they would be Pegler and Dies, and Byrd and Martin. That way, I says, no difference who gets in, they would be O. K." So Susie says, "for once," she says, "I think you might be half way right."

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

THE GOOSE IS IN DANGER

In a recent column, Hugh Johnson commented on the law of diminishing returns. The basic tenet of that law, he said, "is that rates of taxation can be so high as to discourage our business and other incentives to create wealth."

"Tax rates above this limit—no matter how high they go—will result in lower rather than greater revenue to the taxing source, and the decline in revenue will go relatively faster and farther than the increase in rates of taxation."

With taxation paramount in the headlines, next to war, and with Congress debating the new Treasury revenue bill, it should be thoroughly understood by everyone that we have reached the point of killing the goose that lays the golden egg. The government can tax the golden egg out of existence. But it can't create a new goose. The government can tax productive industry to the point where all incentive to progress is destroyed. And the government and the people will find that the very foundation of individual freedom and opportunity has also been destroyed.

Progress comes out of risk. Men take chances. They play long shots, in the hope of making a profit. Every great industry we know was a "long shot" gamble once. Motors—electric power—oil—mining—go down the list, and you'll find that all these vast enterprises were little experimental enterprises once. "Risk capital" made them possible—and so made possible this kind of a country.

Taxation can be so applied that the ability to progress will disappear. If the so-called "excess profits" tax is so increased that business is deprived of the money needed for expansion, experiment and development, production will seriously suffer. These are facts which Congress must keep in mind. Today's tax problem amounts to raising the needed revenue without destroying the economic and social system we are battling to preserve.—Industrial News Review.

GET READY!

If this country is attacked, a start will undoubtedly be made with incendiary bombs. The most common type of these bombs—and the most effective type—is light, small and safe for an enemy to handle. A single bombing plane can carry 2,000 or more of them. And each of the bombs is capable of starting a major fire.

The moral of this is clear: one of the first and most essential steps to be taken in defense of this continent is to perfect our fire defense. London and other English cities would not exist today if their fire-fighting organizations, professional and volunteer alike, had not produced miracles. Experts are convinced that it is perfectly possible for an enemy to reach and attack our principal in-

JOHN WICKHAM IS A WAR PRISONER

Definite word concerning the fate of John Edwin Wickham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Wickham of Brackettville, has been received, confirming a recent Navy dispatch which included John as among the American Marines who were believed to be prisoners of the Japs.

Mr. and Mrs. Wickham have received a communication from the American Red Cross which states that John was a prisoner of war of the Japanese, and he was in good health, had enough to eat and was well cared for with excellent medical aid provided for the American prisoners.

This was the first definite information concerning their son that Mr. and Mrs. Wickham had since the outbreak of the present war when the Japs made their sneak attacks on the American Island possessions. John was stationed with a group of the Marines on Guam when the Island was attacked and overcome by the Japs. For a time it had been believed that John was a prisoner of war but nothing was definite until now.

THE HONEST FARMER

The farmer wisely plants his seed.

And plows between the lines;

Toiling, sweating, striving ever;

'Tis thus he earns his dime.

Contented, he "lives to let live";

And treats his neighbor right;

Happily he sings, while at work,

And rests so well at night.

Surrounded by his family,

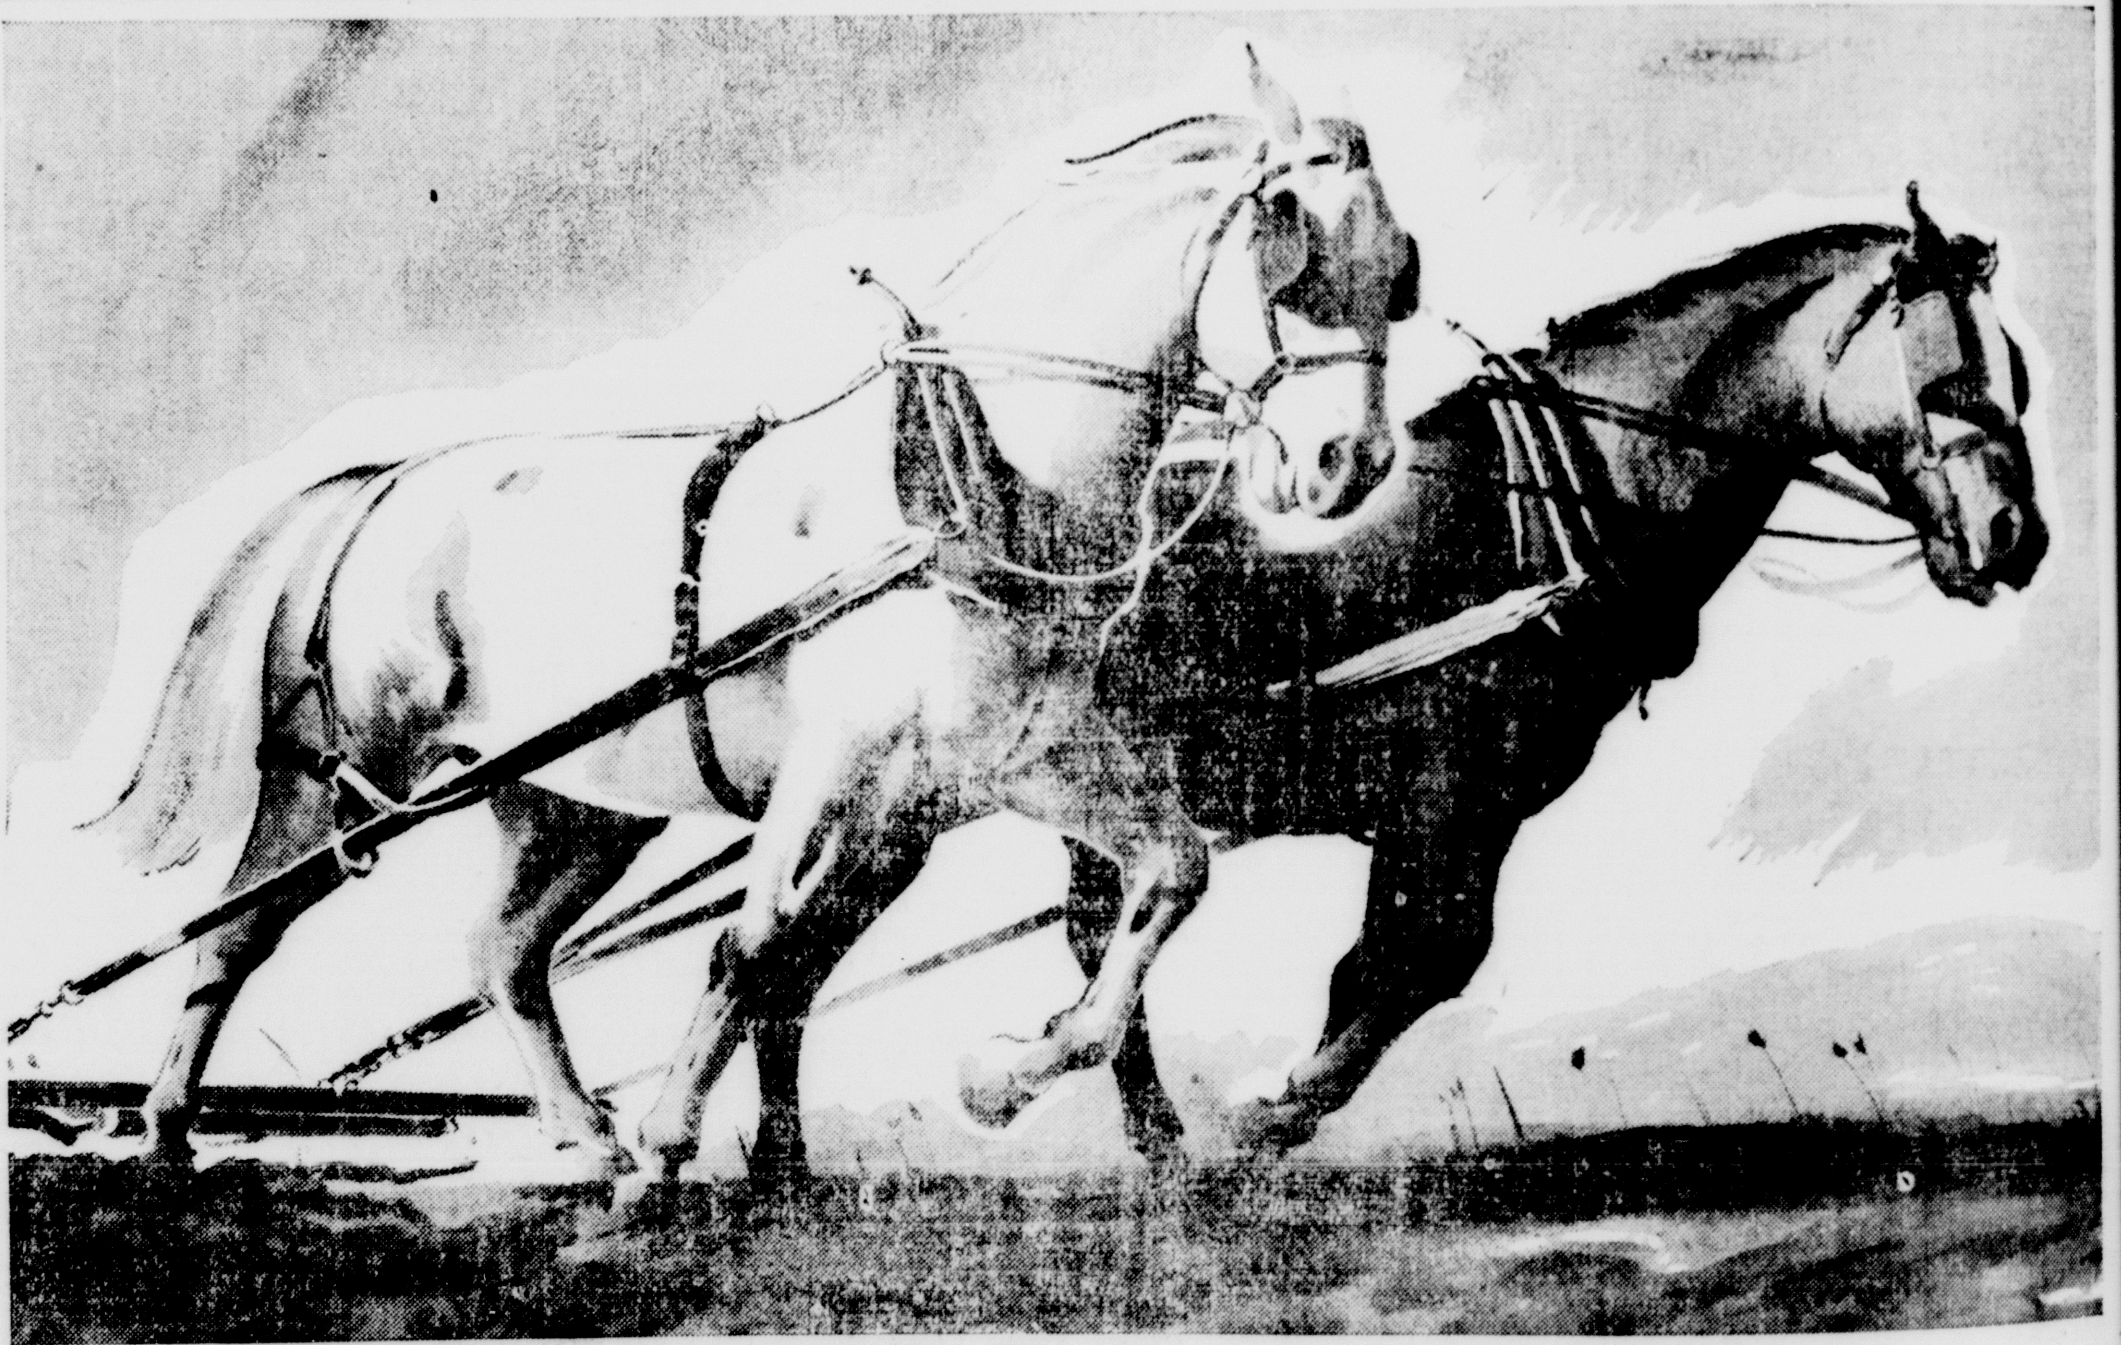

In the neat, cozy home;

He is thankful, and proud of life;

Though having scarce income.

IT TAKES CO-OPERATION...

Fifty years ago no one thought of trying to stimulate the industrial growth of a whole region. The American pioneer spirit took care of everything.

Today, with our country largely settled, it is not enough to leave our industrial future to nature. Realizing this, our organization is telling the nation about the splendid opportunities for war and peacetime production that are available here in the Gulf South.

The program is designed to co-operate with all other groups interested in building a greater Gulf South —to work with you, and your local organizations—and to help build your community and the rest of the Gulf South area.

But the job is big—it takes co-operative pulling power—the co-operation of everyone working shoulder to shoulder in the interest of the whole country's defense and its peacetime progress after war. All of us in the Gulf South know that only through close co-operation and unified action can victory be assured. We deeply appreciate our responsibilities in this great crisis.

Almost 3 million dollars will be saved on fire insurance in Texas this year because of credits granted in 508 towns and cities for good fire records. Unfortunately, owing to our too frequent fires, Hondo is not one of the fortunate 500 and so will not participate in this 3-million-dollar saving. SCHUEHLE-McLAUGHLIN NUP-TIALS HELD IN HOUSTON

Miss Roselyn Anita McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. McLaughlin of Houston, became the bride of Charles John Schuehle Jr., of Ellington Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Schuehle of Hondo, at a ceremony performed at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Mary's Church in Houston. Father M. J. Daly was the celebrant. Mrs. Charles C. Luckel played the wedding music and the accompaniments for Bryan Shanahan, who sang Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." The chancel was simply decorated with palms and a lovely arrangement of white spring blossoms.

The bride wore a gown of Venice lace and white satin, styled with a short, full train. The bodice of lace, created with a sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves, was trimmed down the front with small buttons. Her veil of illusion, which fell to the break in her train, was held by a headpiece of illusion caught back of her pompadour with a single gardenia, and she carried a prayer book with an orchid cascade. She wore as her only ornament a necklace set with diamonds which is a family heirloom.

The bride's attendants were dressed alike in ice blue jersey and wore matching tulle hats trimmed with fresh flowers, and carried nosegays of blue and purple hydrangea blossoms, accented with orchid, fuchsia and vine carnations. The dresses were fashioned with torso bodices, cut with heart-shaped necklines and full bishop sleeves, and the skirts were floor length. They wore short white gloves. The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. W. Alfred Wood as matron of honor and Miss Aileen McLaughlin as maid of honor. Mrs. A. A. Gardes of New Orleans and Miss Elizabeth Gallagher were bridesmaids. Buster Schuehle of Corpus Christi attended his brother as best man and the ushers were Mr. Wood, Malcolm Baldwin Whitehead, Kenneth McLaughlin and Malcolm McCants of Baytown.

Mrs. McLaughlin wore a dinner dress of ice blue with purple accessories, and a corsage of purple and fuchsia blossoms, and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in dusty rose, with which she wore a large matching hat with poude blue and rose accessories, and a corsage of carnations.

For the wedding breakfast after the ceremony, the McLaughlin home was decorated with white blossoms. Assisting were Mrs. S. E. Arnold, Miss Ann Campbell, Mrs. Ned Pillow, Mrs. Roy Miller, Mrs. Malcolm McCants, Mrs. Albert G. Kidd and Miss Helen Johnson. The bride's table held a ring-shaped wedding cake, decorated with orchids and lilies of the valley, and white tapers in crystal holders lighted the board.

When Mr. and Mrs. Schuehle left for their wedding trip to Miami, Florida, she was wearing a cochineal red gabardine suit with navy accessories and an orchid corsage. They will be located in Miami for three months, while Mr. Schuehle attends the officers training school, and later will return to Ellington Field. She was graduated from St. Agnes Academy and attended T. S. C. W. and the University of Houston. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rice Institute, where he was prominent in athletics and holds a master's degree from Columbia University. Included in the out-of-town guests, in addition to the bridegroom's parents, were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stubbs and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Fleming, Jr., of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Starnes of Hondo.

VAN DYKE-KOLLMAN

The marriage of Miss Eloise Kollman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kollman, Jr. of Hondo, to Noble Van Dyke, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Van Dyke of San Antonio, was solemnized at eight o'clock Saturday evening, March 21st, at the Hondo Methodist church, with Rev. R. F. Davis performing the ceremony. The candle-lighted altar space was banked with fern and other decorative notes were vases of white gladioli and baby's breath.

Miss Frances Ruth Fly, at the piano, played a program of nuptial selections and gave the accompaniment for Henry Martin Finger, who sang "I Love You Truly." Miss Fly softly played "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise" through the ceremony.

The bride wore a seafoam green crepe jacket dress with a wide brimmed navy straw hat, pink gloves and navy accessories. She had a corsage of pink roses. Miss Margaret Ann Knopp, the bride's only attendant, wore beige crepe with a pink straw hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations. Harry Kollman, Jr., was the best man and the ushers were William Horace Holloway and Bobby Kollman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, laid with a lace cloth, was decorated with white stock and baby's breath in a crystal bowl, and held the bride's cake, a large white confection embossed with white lilies. White tapers burned in crystal candelabra. White blossoms and gleaming tapers in crystal holders also decorated the buffet. Mrs. H. W. Kollman served the cake and Mrs. E. E. Kollman the punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke are making their home in San Antonio where the bridegroom is a civilian employee at Duncan Field. The bride is a graduate of Hondo High School and the past year has been attending the University of San Antonio.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Van Dyke, his sister and brother, Betty Zane and Larry Van Dyke, of San Antonio and Miss Marjorie Davis of Sonora, Joe Moore of San Antonio, and Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Kollman of Richmond, Texas.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Woolls announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances Ellen, to Mr. Harold J. Hartung, March 22, 1942, at Waneika, Oklahoma. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ralph A. Hill in the Baptist parsonage of Waneika. Attendants were Miss Jonell Richarz of Sabinal and Bud Chapman of Sheppard Field, Texas.

The bride wore a dusty rose dress with black straw hat and black patent leather accessories. Miss Richarz wore blue with beige accessories.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartung of Hondo, has completed his training at Sheppard Field and left this week for his new station in Utah. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hartung are graduates of Hondo High School and the bride is employed at the local REA office.

IN MEMORIAM

A Tribute to Mrs. J. A. Horger

Reluctantly we bowed our head Submitting to God's will, And many bitter tears were shed For her whose voice was still.

The many, many prayers that were Uttered, seemed all in vain, For God had other plans for her, Our loss is heaven's gain.

She crossed death's river without fear, Although she loved this life, She loved her friends and family dear, And was a faithful wife.

She loved her church with all it's work Was always present there, Her duty she would never shirk In weather, rain or fair.

She loved her Bible, read therein It's promises so true, She taught others to flee from sin As she felt called to do.

We shall miss her with her sweet smile Her presence here with us, But we shall see her after a while Up yonder, so we trust.

In heaven where no sorrow comes, Up in our home above, Where there will be no broken homes Just joy and peace and love.

We'll find her there at Jesus' feet, With loved ones gone before, There'll be rejoicing when we meet, On that beautiful shore.

—ADDIE BENNETT NEWTON.

TERRACING UNDER NEW PLAN

Basic fair price for terracing easier farms in Medina County has been set at $55 per 100 feet, according to V. P. King, chairman, county AAA committee.

Contractor cooperating with the AAA committee in terracing farms this year is Alf. A. Bader, Commissioner, Prec. No. 1.

Under the terracing plan, with construction costs varying by individual farms, no cash outlay is needed since the cost of constructing terraces is deducted from future AAA payments, the chairman said.

After terraces are completed, they are reported to the county office and checked in the field to assure compliance with specifications established by the county committee after which they are reported to the state office for audit. Certification of payments are made to the Regional Disbursing office, Dallas, on the same day they are received in the State AAA office, the AAA office explained.

Coordination between the local and state AAA office makes it possible for contractors to be paid promptly for the work, King said.

"If you're going to terrace your farm under this plan, let us know your name can be added to the list if it's not already there," the chairman said in pointing out that contractors are already working in the Hondo community.

"Some farmers are terracing just enough to earn soil-building payments, while others are using much as 70 percent of their 1942 AAA payments for the practice," he said.

MEASUREMENTS OF THE WOODS

By Anna Harris

I wandered through the woods, sought to gain their quiet moods. Though alone I seemed to be, strolled amidst fair company.

The birds were singing in the trees; the wind blew softly through the leaves. They spoke sweet words of love to me, they were so careless and so free.

Grey squirrels passed me unafraid, in the ground their acorns laid. Bright flowers raised their heads and smiled; my hands were grasped by brambles wild.

I gazed upon the trees so high, that seemed to try to reach the sky. The soft green moss about their feet. The air was filled with perfume sweet.

I fell into a glad day-dream. Where love and peace did reign supreme. I had a very happy day.

THE MYSTERY OF THE DWARF

By Anna Harris

The rattling dust-covered car stopped at the farmhouse gate. A dwarf, hunched and hunched, got out and stepped up the garden path, then stopped abruptly. Two large, black dogs bounded toward him, barking furiously.

Instantly the front door opened, and a slight, delicate girl came out. She was about 17 years of age, with wavy-colored hair, and deep grey eyes. She spoke sharply to the dogs and ordered them back to their kennel.

The dwarf's hands trembled. "I am sorry the dogs frightened you," she said in a low voice, "but they wouldn't harm you."

"Dangerous animals," the dwarf mumbled. "They ought to be shot."

"I am Caroline Hammond," said the girl, taking no notice of his words. "Did you wish to see some one?"

"I came to see John Hammond," the dwarf replied sullenly. "Is he home?"

"Yes, I think father is at home. Won't you come in?"

Caroline led the way to the house, the dwarf following. He dropped heavily into an armchair on the veranda, while Caroline went inside. She was met by her sister Beatrice.

"He is here again," whispered Caroline. "What can it mean?"

Beatrice was two years older than Caroline and much stronger. She had dark brown hair and flashing black eyes.

She stamped her foot. "I'll find out what he wants right now," she cried angrily, starting forward.

"Wait!" a voice commanded behind them. "Wait!"

Both girls turned. Unseen by them their father, John Hammond, had come into the room.

"It is Ben Roberts, I will see him," he said. "Half an hour later, from an upper window, the girls watched the dwarf depart."

When they came down again to the living room they found their father sitting by the table his head bowed upon his arm.

"Who is this man, father?" Beatrice asked. "Why does he come here? What does he want from you?"

John Hammond raised his head. He made no reply. He gazed at her for a moment, then rose and went to his room.

A month later the dwarf came again. When he had gone, Beatrice and Caroline looked at their father anxiously. His face was sad and lined looking.

After this visit, John Hammond would sit for hours saying nothing, just staring vacantly before him.

Caroline's health suffered from the strain. Always weak, she soon was unable to leave her bed. Alarmed, Beatrice phoned to Dr. Ingram at the village.

Dr. Chas. Ingram was a young physician of about 25 or 26 years of age, who was already making a name for himself in his profession. He had been called to attend Caroline at other times, and now he hurried to the farmhouse.

Beatrice advised him with regard to the dwarf. "If he would only stay away," she cried, "Caroline would get stronger."

Dr. Ingram was troubled. He loved Caroline dearly, and wanted to make her well, but he could not do so while she brooded over the dwarf. Back at his office he called Jack Gorman, a young attorney and an old friend, and asked him to come over at once. Jack came, and they discussed the matter. Into the mind of each one word loomed, but neither spoke it aloud.

ten. Caroline's health improved wonderfully under Dr. Ingram's constant care. By spring color had come into her pale cheeks, and a brightness to her eyes.

Jack and the doctor were frequent visitors now. They would slip away from their professional duties whenever possible and drive out to the farm.

John Hammond looked on and smiled. He was glad to see how happy they were. He would usually find something to do in the garage when the young men called, or he would go to his room and read.

There came a day when they asked his consent to their marriage. He was not surprised and gladly gave them his blessing, but often he would shake his head sadly.

There were gay and busy times at the farmhouse now. No more brooding—nothing but laughter. They were to have a double wedding, and the whole countryside was to be invited.

Then he came again. They were all in the front room when the dwarf walked in without knocking.

John Hammond rose, shook hands with him and offered him a chair, while the others stared at him in silence.

Beatrice was the first to speak. "Who is this man, father?" she demanded. "Who is this intruder?"

John Hammond sank back into his chair, his face paling. He put his hands over his eyes, his lips trembling.

But the dwarf sprang to his feet. "I'm no intruder!" he shouted. "I'm no intruder! John! John! Tell them I'm not an intruder!"

He dropped to the sofa and buried his face in the cushions. John Hammond got up and slowly crossed the room. Kneeling beside the sofa, he took the dwarf's hands in his own and held them.

"No," he said huskily, "you are not an intruder. You are always welcome here, because you are my brother."

"What!" the others exclaimed in astonishment. "Your brother?"

"Yes," John Hammond went on, speaking rapidly now, "he is my own lawful brother."

"But you have no brother," Beatrice protested. "He is an impostor."

"He is not an impostor," her father replied gravely. "You are surprised to learn that I have a brother, but he is the younger son of my father and mother."

"What!" the others exclaimed in astonishment. "Your brother?"

"Yes," John Hammond went on, speaking rapidly now, "he is my own lawful brother."

"But you have no brother," Beatrice protested. "He is an impostor."

"He is not an impostor," her father replied gravely. "You are surprised to learn that I have a brother, but he is the younger son of my father and mother."

"What!" the others exclaimed in astonishment. "Your brother?"

"Yes," John Hammond went on, speaking rapidly now, "he is my own lawful brother."

"But you have no brother," Beatrice protested. "He is an impostor."

"He is not an impostor," her father replied gravely. "You are surprised to learn that I have a brother, but he is the younger son of my father and mother."

"What!" the others exclaimed in astonishment. "Your brother?"

"Yes," John Hammond went on, speaking rapidly now, "he is my own lawful brother."

"But you have no brother," Beatrice protested. "He is an impostor."

"He is not an impostor," her father replied gravely. "You are surprised to learn that I have a brother, but he is the younger son of my father and mother."

"What!" the others exclaimed in astonishment. "Your brother?"

"Yes," John Hammond went on, speaking rapidly now, "he is my own lawful brother."

"But you have no brother," Beatrice protested. "He is an impostor."

He got up unsteadily and continued. "In my youth I was proud and unsympathetic. I was ashamed and humiliated at his condition, and did not want him for my brother. When our parents died, I went to Boston and prevailed upon him to assume a different name and go to some place where we were never known."

"For years I did not see him again. Occasionally he would send me a letter. Sometimes he needed help, as it was difficult for him to earn his living."

"When I met and married your mother, I was fearful lest she learn of him. I bought this farm and brought her here, where you girls were born. I commanded my brother never to write to me again and never to come to my home. He went away and I heard from him no more."

"After I lost him, my heart called for him. When I knew not where he was, I wanted him. In my imagination, I could see him ill and starving. I was tortured with remorse and could not forgive myself."

"Since your mother died, I have longed for him more and more. I started a search for him, but it was only a year ago that I found him. I wanted him with me and had him come here, but when I saw the disgust and distrust with which you, my children, looked upon him, I sent him away as before. But I recalled him again and again."

"He is here now at my urgent request. My eyes were opened at last. I have been blind for a long time. Soon you both will leave me for homes of your own, and I shall be alone. There will be no one here to cheer me. I could never marry again. I could never love another woman, as I did your mother."

"In my pride I drove away the one whom the Almighty, perhaps, had chosen to be the friend and companion of my old age. The good book tells us that God moves in mysterious ways His wonders to perform."

He turned to the dwarf and raised him to his feet.

"Henceforth," he whispered softly, "your home is here. Love is precious in any form."

Contrary to John Hammond's fears, the others crowded around the silent, downcast dwarf. They all seemed eager and anxious to make him welcome. His face flushed with pleasure as each one clasped his hand and called him "Uncle Ben".

It was then that John Hammond realized what he had done—the sorrow that he had needlessly created during all these years.

The preparations went joyfully on, and at the end of June the double wedding took place. The young brides and grooms were deliriously happy, all anxiety gone.

As the last car drove away, John Hammond and his brother Ben stood upon the lawn and waved goodbye. Then John placed his arm across the hunchback's shoulder's, drew him gently into the house, and closed the door.

The end.

HOW HOGS CURE THE CHILLS

Who'd ever think a hog had sense, Enough to bust a palin' fence, And go tearin' like a maniac, rootin' up the corn:

Just when all my bones were achin' And the chills kept me a shakin' And the summer sun was just as cold as any winter morn?

When you're burnin' up with ague And the heat is tryin' to plague you, A shady tree is just as hot as any field of corn.

My legs a feelin' like two logs; It seemed there was a dozen hogs And I was tryin' to stop the brutes from tearin' up the corn.

But I had to lift my heels and go, Chasin' that hog, from row to row, Until my tired body wished it never had been born.

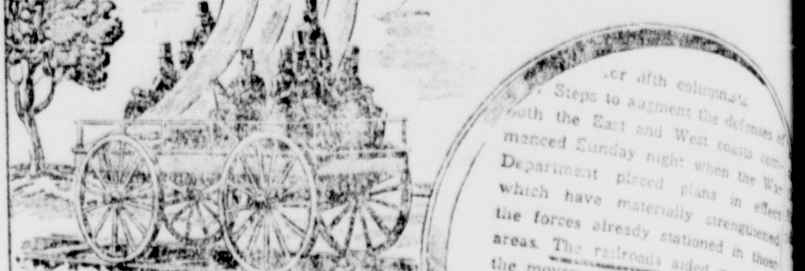

At last, I winded him and when I slowly coaxed him to his pen, I flung myself upon the grass, and swooned away till morn.

I woke refreshed and felt no ill; I never had another chill And I've always blessed that crazy hog, for rootin' up the corn.

IN MEMORIAM

Our deceased Sister, Aunt, and friend, Miss Emma Fuos, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthias Fuos, was born on September 26, 1868 in Castroville, Medina Co., Texas. Here on the same place where she was born, she spent her happy days, here she suffered and died. It was her home during her entire life. When Aunt Emma, as she was generally known, was only 4 weeks of age her pious parents had her baptized in the Lutheran faith on October 25, 1868, by the Reverend Hy. Merz, when she became a child of God. She attended school here in Castroville. When she reached confirmation age she received a thorough instruction in God's Holy Word and was then confirmed by her pastor, the Reverend William Pfennig, on April 9, 1882. Today at Aunt Emma's casket we can truthfully say that she loved her home and tried to live as a Christian all her life. She was a faithful member of Zions Lutheran congregation and attended divine services regularly. When the adult Bible class was organized she joined and attended the class every Sunday if possible. Her health began failing and she could no longer attend. She was also a faithful member of the Castroville Lutheran Ladies Aid Society and served as treasurer of this organization for 8 years. When Aunt Emma was quite a young lady, she went to San Antonio and took lessons from her cousin as seamstress. This instruction enabled her to serve well all during her life. When the Castroville post master, Mr. Celeste Pingenot, died, his wife, Mrs. Emily Pingenot, became post mistress and Aunt Emma became assistant in the post office and worked there around 4 years. Some time later she went back to San Antonio and worked for her brother, H. W. Fuos, in a restaurant around 2 years. By this time her parents had grown old and quite feeble, they needed their daughter's help and attention at home, so Aunt Emma gladly and willingly sacrificed everything else and tenderly cared for them in their old age, until their death. Her father died July 1, 1913, and her mother on August 10, 1923. After the death of her parents, Aunt Emma made a home for her brother, Bill, and always had his best interests at heart. Her brother preceded his sister in death by 10 days.

Aunt Emma enjoyed fairly good health during her life, until Jan. 29, 1942, when she had a stroke, from which she never recovered. She was in bed nearly 6 weeks. In spite of all the medical skill of her kind doctor and the tender nursing of her devoted sister, Mrs. John Stricker, who was with her all during her illness, and also her kind brother, H. W. Fuos, who had made his home with her since May, 1940, and the loving care of her companion, Miss Helen Franzer, who was deeply concerned about her condition, Aunt Emma gradually grew weaker and fell asleep on Sunday, March 15, 1942 at 9:30 p. m.

She reached the age of 73 years, 5 months and 17 days. She leaves to mourn, 2 brothers: H. W. Fuos of Castroville and Charles Fuos of Mexico; one sister, Mrs. John Stricker, of San Antonio, and many other relatives and good friends. Three brothers, namely: Louis, Adolph and William Fuos and one sister, Mrs. Rev. William Hummel, besides her parents preceded Aunt Emma in death. May she rest in peace.

Funeral services were held from Tondre Funeral home on Wednesday March 18, 1942 beginning at 3 p. m. and continued at Zions Lutheran church with interment in the old Zions Lutheran cemetery. The choir rendered beautiful selections at all services. The Ladies Aid Society of which she was a faithful member showed their respect by their presence and by donating a beautiful floral offering in her honor. Rev. A. H. Falkenberg officiated at the services. Pallbearers were: Mr. August Etter, F. W. Etter, Judge H. E. Haass, Dave Bippert, Louis Schweers, and William Schmitt.

necessities which are outside the sphere of private enterprises. Only the government can build barracks, buy ships, planes, munitions, pay for the maintenance of troops, etc.

In other fields, private banking and other financial institutions can do the job. They have the money. They have the personnel. They are prepared to go the limit. Yet government, at the expense of all the people, has usurped a hundred and one fields of banking activity which properly belong in the field of private, self-sustaining enterprise.

The government will act in these matters when, and only when, the people demand it. And there's no time to waste in making the demand.—Industrial News Review.

CASTROVILLE WOMAN DIES OF AUTO HURTS

Injuries received in an auto accident near Castroville March 15 were responsible for the death of Mrs. Carmen Martinez, 30, of Castroville, who died at the Robert B. Greer Hospital in San Antonio Monday night, according to an inquest verdict returned Tuesday by Justice of the Peace Otis West.

Mrs. Martinez was injured when the car she was driving overturned after hitting a dip in the road.

She was taken to the Bexar county hospital by her husband, Santos Martinez, who, according to Judge West, was following her in another car at the time of the accident.

The body was taken to the A. Castillo Funeral Home in San Antonio. The funeral was held at Castroville at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

users will register April 28 and 29 at high schools. All sugar sales in the country will be halted at midnight April 27 for approximately 10 days. One member of a family can register the entire household. Each person will receive a War Ration Book of 28 stamps.

Oil Coordinator Ickes said a card rationing system for gasoline will replace within six weeks the present 20 per cent limitation on deliveries in 17 Eastern States, Washington, Oregon and the District of Columbia.

The War Production Board said new typewriters produced during the remainder of 1942 will go to the Army, Navy and other Government agencies. The OPA will ration users stocks of new machines now held by dealers.

Production and Conversion
War Production Chairman Nelson, in a radio broadcast, said airplane production has increased more than 50 per cent since Pearl Harbor, "but this is no reason for false complacency. We are nowhere near our goals."

Commerce Secretary Jones reported the Defense Plant Corporation had made commitments as of March for construction of more than 700 plants. He said the Government is spending $600,000,000 for construction of synthetic rubber plants.

Shipping
Navy Secretary Knox said of more than 1,000 ships which have cleared New York for southern ports and have observed Navy orders to travel in specially-designated North-South lanes, only five have been sunk. He said the Coast Guard force protecting harbor installations is being increased from 35,000 to 60,000, and a large number of patrol vessels are being added for the entire Atlantic coastline. The Maritime Commission said its Liberty Ship Production Program, now on schedule, calls for putting 1,488 new freighters in war service by the end of 1943.

Air
The President asked Congress for more than $8 billion to expand the Army Air Forces by purchase of 148,000 planes in 1942 and 1943. The Civil Aeronautics Administration said its standardization center in Houston, Texas soon will graduate a class of pilots every 10 days for the Army Ferrying Command. The Office of Education and the CAA announced plans for a nationwide aviation education program in elementary and high schools.

Army Broadcasts from Fighting Fronts

The War Department said a series of "Army Hour" broadcasts every Sunday beginning April 5, 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. EWT, over the NBC Network will link men in the armed services fighting abroad with American firesides in this country. The programs will attempt to promote understanding of military and morale problems. They will superimpose a radio program to accomplish a military mission.

Labor

President Roosevelt said by Fall labor shortages probably will begin to develop, although at the present time there is sufficient manpower for war industry. The President stated nowhere in the country is anyone prohibited by law from working more than 40 hours a week. WPB Chairman Nelson, addressing CIO leaders in Washington, asked Labor to suspend for the duration the privilege of getting double-time pay for work on Sundays and holidays.

The President ordered the Office of Defense Transportation to seize the strike-bound Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and to operate it "for the successful prosecution of the war." The President acted after the railroad management rejected repeated Government requests that the strike be submitted to arbitration.

Labor Secretary Perkins said of the 15 million workers to be employed in war industries by next January, about one-third will be women.

Priorities and Allocations

The WPB ordered manufacturers of domestic laundry equipment to halt production by May 15, and manufacturers of certain vending machines, of juke boxes and other amusement machines by May 1. The board directed retailers of men's and boys' clothing to omit trouser cuffs after March 30.

Priority assistance was granted materials needed for repair and maintenance of existing plumbing and heating installations on farms, residences and office and apartment buildings.

The Board limited metallic plates for State and local auto licenses to 10 per cent of the weight issued during the year ending July 1.

The Senate completed Congressional action on the Second War Powers Bill, which includes provisions for a fine of $10,000 and a year in prison for priorities violations.

The WPB said it will begin investigations soon of pig iron distribution in foundries as well as inventory conditions of copper scrap dealers.

Prices
The Labor Department reported its cost of living index on February 15 was 113 per cent of the average for 1935-39, and almost 15 per cent higher than in August 1939.

The OPA set price ceilings on gasoline at service stations in 17 Eastern states, Oregon, Washington and the District of Columbia at levels prevailing March 13.

A Chicago Federal Grand Jury indicted 101 cheese dealers, processors and distributors for violation of the Federal Anti-Trust law.

Aliens

The President established the War Relocation Authority within the Office for Emergency Management to permit persons forced to move from military areas to enlist voluntarily in work corps for the duration of the war. A bill imposing a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment of one year for persons violating regulations in military zones was sent to the White House.

The War Front

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, accompanied by a staff of officers, broke through the Japanese blockade and proceeded from Bataan Peninsula to Melbourne, Australia, to assume supreme command of the forces in that region, including the Philippines. A BACHELOR'S PROPOSAL

Sometimes my heart is quite sedate;
Sometimes it needs must palpitate;
It flutters, dear,
And acts so queer,
Sometimes it's hard to regulate.

I scarcely know I have a heart
When you and I are far apart,
But if and when
We meet again,
It will, as if by magic, start!

Towards all the girls I've ever known
My heart was dead as any stone;
Now it's on fire
With one desire,
To win you for my very own.

Should you reciprocate, dear one,
Two hearts will beat in unison;
Please name the day
Without delay
And consummate what you've begun!

About 5 percent more sheep

lamb were on feed for market January 1, 1942, than a year earlier, the Department of Agriculture reports. The estimated number of sheep was 6,775,000 head, compared with revised estimates of 6,475,000 in 1941, 5,841,000 in 1940 and 885,000 in 1939. The number of sheep established a new high for numbers on feed January 1, 1942, early part of the current lambing season was unfavorable because of the Corn Belt because excessive rains and lambs did not make good gains and death losses were rather large. From the middle of November to the end of December, weather conditions were not favorable. Heavy snow, low temperatures late in December and early January forced a considerable movement of lambs to wheat pastures—these going to market and to commercial yards. The feeding season in Western States has been fairly favorable.

PRAIRIE SONG

Out across the lonely prairie
Comes a many coyote's call
And I sorta got a hankering
Just to hear a whiteface bawl.

I'll catch up my saddle pony
And take the trail a spell;
But we'll soon come loping back
To this land o' grassy swells.

When we get the dough-ray-me
For a herd of whiteface steers
We'll settle down forever
And . . . go see if Nancy cares

To leave her pa's home place
For this little rustic shack,
That's new and clean, awaiting
Just her own homemaking knack!

We'll hear the coyote's howling
Out across the prairie land
When the work of day is over
And we're standing hand in hand

Looking cross the moonlit spaces
All incircling what we own
From the dark sky up above us
Out to where the coyotes moan.
